At Macfie Architecture we are deliberate about the teams we work with. Over five years and many projects together - from heritage bungalow renovations to a multi-million dollar St Heliers rebuild - he has consistently delivered exceptional site management, client communication and quality of finish. The results are always exactly right. We recommend Shaun and Revive Residential without hesitation.

We absolutely love our new home built by Shaun & the team at Revive Residential, their attention to detail was really appreciated. All the way through the project we were kept well informed and Shaun made numerous suggestions which enhanced what we were trying to achieve. The pavilion style home looks impressive and we particularly love the raked ceiling in the open plan living and the extended Alfresco deck area. The designer Kitchen & walk-in Scullery are a talking point with our friends and we know the bulkhead above the cabinets was a challenge. The final result was amazing and it's a great kitchen to work in. The bathrooms look amazing and the tiler did a great job making sure the spacings and tiles looked even and well thought out. Shaun's idea of putting attic stairs above the garage for additional storage was such a good idea and we are making good use of the storage. We wouldn't hesitate to recommend Revive Residential to all our friends & family.

Thanks again.

ABOUT REVIVE RESIDENTIAL

We don't just build to spec. We build to your standard.

Revive Residential is an Auckland-based construction company led by Shaun - a qualified, licensed, third-generation carpenter whose connection to the craft is as natural as breathing. We specialise in custom, high-end, and sustainable homes across greater Auckland: new builds and renovations that hold nothing back.

We are builders who understand the weight of an architectural drawing. Your plans carry intention, artistry, and trust - and we treat them accordingly. Where others see a construction document, we see a story waiting to be built.

Shaun – Founder & Builder

Shaun's love for building began under the guidance of his grandfather long before his formal carpentry apprenticeship. Today, as business owner and principal builder, he is present on every site - not just to manage, but to personally verify that the quality of finish meets the exacting standard he would demand of his own home.

He works closely with architects and clients to navigate challenges, find elegant solutions, and realise each vision without compromise. When problems arise - and they always do - Shaun brings solutions.

RENOVATION

Coatesville

North Auckland

A true gem in the Revive portfolio - and a testament to what can happen when a client's vision is met with a builder who genuinely listens. This renovation was a collaborative journey from the very first conversation, crafting a residence that reflected personal style without sacrificing the practical needs of family life.

The living spaces were opened right up. Internal doors taken to full height. The kitchen relocated to create a new, intuitive flow: from entrance hall, past formal living, into a new kitchen, dining and informal living space that finally made the house breathe. Oak floors throughout the living areas, woollen loop pile carpet in the bedrooms, and double-glazed windows and doors across the entire home. The custom solid timber front door, designed in collaboration with the clients and Shaun, announces exactly what awaits inside.

The clients had lived in this home for over a decade before the idea of transforming it took hold. When they connected with Shaun, the first step was translating that feeling into a concept, then a concept into drawings. As the build unfolded, the vision evolved, and rather than holding to the original plan, they adapted. What they arrived at was something better than what anyone had first imagined.

NEW BUILD

Waiau Pa

Clarks Beach, South Auckland

Set against the scenic beauty of Clarks Beach, this home was designed to belong to its landscape - not merely sit upon it. Sleek contemporary architecture finds harmony with the natural elements surrounding it: lush greenery, coastal light, open sky.

Large windows flood the open-plan interior with natural light and create the seamless indoor-outdoor flow that defines modern New Zealand living at its finest. High-end finishes, smart home features, and a thoughtfully designed kitchen complete an experience that is as liveable as it is beautiful. A retreat that proves sophistication and nature are not in opposition.

NEW BUILD

Whitford

Rural Whitford, East Auckland

Nestled in a breathtakingly private and sheltered setting, this exceptional Whitford property stands confidently in the landscape - at once grounded and refined. As a modern style of cladding, it's a full aluminium system product called Nu Wall. It's pre-finished, pre-coloured. Once it's installed it's done. The home is a seamless blend of modern design and luxury that only meticulous craftsmanship can produce.

Spacious living areas open into exquisite landscaped surrounds. Every detail - from the structural decisions to the finishing touches - has been considered with care and executed with precision. A haven in every sense, and a testament to what is possible when builder and architect work in true alignment, each trusting the other completely.

RENOVATION

Riverhead

Riverhead, West Auckland

We took this project over from a failed developer. The transformation of a remarkable architecturally designed home into a world of quiet luxury. From exquisite herringbone flooring to custom-designed arched joinery and elegant brushed-gold Kingsley tapware, every detail speaks of refined taste and deliberate, meticulous craftsmanship.

The 360-degree surround decking - adorned with villa-style trim - creates an extraordinary framework for outdoor living and effortless entertaining. Beyond it: a private oasis, with a concrete pool and outdoor shower perfectly positioned to capture the Auckland sun. Single-level, flat-site living designed for sophistication without compromise, and built by people who understand exactly what that means.

RENOVATION

Remuera

Remuera, Auckland

A near-century-old beauty - reimagined, not erased. This ambitious renovation began beneath the surface: excavation of a new basement to create a front entranceway, tandem garage, media room, additional bedroom and bathroom - all of this carved from the earth beneath a home that already told its own remarkable story.

A new balcony now catches the sun throughout the day, a quiet haven flooded with light. Inside, floors, kitchen, bedrooms and living room have been revitalised - original character honoured and elevated into the home this property always had the potential to become. It was always beautiful. Now it is exceptional.

NEW BUILD

St Heliers

Auckland

Every project in this portfolio began with a conversation - an architect, an interior designer and a builder, sitting together to understand what the work truly demanded. To talk about the vision. To ask the harder questions. To find the alignment that makes great buildings possible.

The house was never demolished - it was reborn. Every element reconsidered, every detail executed without compromise. This is bespoke residential renovation at its highest expression, and it has to be seen to be understood.

Nothing was left to chance. The antique doors alone - sourced from a 500-year-old fort in India – speak to the level of intention that defines every corner of this home. This property is not simply a renovation. It is a statement.

THE REVIVE PROMISE

Your design is not a brief. It is a belief.

For architects, choosing the right builder is never just a commercial decision – it's a creative one. Your reputation lives in every corner, every finish, every detail that gives life to what was once a line on paper.

At Revive Residential, we take that responsibility personally. We read plans with the same care you drew them. We ask the questions others don't. We flag what others miss. And when the unexpected arises – as it always does - we bring solutions, not excuses.

Our goal is simple: to be the builder you call first, refer with confidence, and return to for every project – because we treat your design with the reverence it deserves.
